Showing solidarity in our neighbourhood

Dear neighbours!

The current challenges of the corona pandemic remind us of the importance of treating each other with respect. The value of a well-functioning neighbourhood is now higher than ever. Each and everyone can make a contribution to this.

Please note:

All safety precautions that apply to public spaces equally apply in your neighbourhood. Try to avoid contact in the stairwell and common areas. It is best to thoroughly wash your hands before you leave the apartment and when you come home.

Mutual consideration

Keep in mind that for many people their own home is now also a place to work, learn and play. Different needs in living together are colliding now, more than we are used to. Therefore, please be especially considerate - above all, playing children need our tolerance at the moment. Try to avoid noise-generating activities yourself. The rest times in your house rules still apply.

Playgrounds and open spaces

If you want to use the play areas with children, you must be particularly careful in contact with other children – maintain at least one metre distance. Creative ideas for games with children are available at www.fratz-graz.at

Waste disposal and separation

Even if the time at home allows for clearing out, we ask you to collect bulky waste, old clothes as well as green and shrub cuttings at home for the time being. Help to avoid waste, especially organic waste - food is valuable. Please pay particular attention now to correct waste separation in order to ensure an on-going smooth and efficient disposal.

To a lively and healthy neighbourhood!

Many committed neighbours have already shown that neighbourhood help at a distance (e.g. doing the shopping and leaving it in front of the door) can be successful. Let's do our part to improve this situation. THANK YOU!
